

What is it like to meet God?

How could it be possible for any of us to meet and have a relationship with an infinite Being, a Being so far beyond our comprehension? The answer is that this infinite God of ours has the ability and the desire to interact with us, and this is exactly what He does.

Paul Robb is an Optical Engineer and Author who spent 40 years in the Aerospace Industry. When he was 27 years old, God appeared to him face to face and showed Paul what he is like, overwhelming him with his kindness and love. This led Paul to collect stories written by others who have had similar experiences. The result is the book The Kindness of God: How God Cares for Us, a collection of more than 100 of these personal accounts.

Paul will describe the experiences he has had during the past forty years, with God as Father and God as Mother. He will also describe the work he has been doing for the past five years, working with God and a group of Angels to rescue lost souls.
